The well rounded College is far more than a log with a professor on one end and a student on the other. Millsaps College strives to improve the intellect and personality of its students, and, in this respect, the campus life and customs of its students contribute more to Millsaps than any other factor. It is only fitting, then, that your 1941 Bobashela pictures a cross section of life at Millsaps.

DEDICATION

Students seldom find a member of the faculty who can command their admiration, inspire their loyalty, and hold their friendship. Such a person, however, is Mr. Alvin J. King. As director of the Millsaps Singers he has brought home many honors to the college, and as "Pop" King he has been a friend and counselor to everyone who works with him. In recognition of Mr. King's attainments, and because we love him, we are proud to dedicate this book to him.

BOARD of TRUSTEES

As representative of the spirit behind the traditions of Millsaps as the Memorial Tomb of its founder, is the active Board of Trustees. By their wisdom and foresight they have guided the college ever in the paths of progress, and in the pursuit of Major Millsaps' ideal for the school as a source of preparation for effective and unselfish service in business and in life, they have gained for it a reputation of a liberal arts college of real cultural and educational values. Therefore, it is to these men and to the spirit which they represent that we dedicate this page.

The cheerful smile of Dr. Smith is a familiar sight to the students of Millsaps, each of whom the president knows by first name, and is indicative of the spirit in which he faces them across the presidential desk.

Students point with pride to the tangible evidences of progress at Millsaps under the present administration. They boast of new and improved buildings, increased educational facilities, added courses and new professors, and, too, a beautified campus. But of more importance to them is a marked increase in the feeling of loyalty and of responsibility to the Alma Mater, which could have had no other source than in the inspiration of its President, Dr. M. L. Smith. Fired by the example of his practical enthusiasm concerning the possibilities of Millsaps, students have found college under him an experience in living and learning which they will long remember and appreciate.

Already having gained at Millsaps a reputation as an outstanding scholar and a better than average professor, Dr. William E. Riecken, in his two years as Dean, has shown himself equally as capable in the executive field. Because of his industry, sincerity, and geniality, he has won the respect and cooperation of students in his capacity as Dean, and their admiration and friendship as a person.

Dr. W. E. RIECKEN
Dean of Men

A paragon of the spirit of interest and sympathy which should belong to a Dean of Women, Mrs. Mary B. Stone has done more to bring about easy and friendly relations between students and faculty than any other one personality at Millsaps. Whether a co-ed enters her office to check up on cuts, discuss a question of interest to the college, confess a problem, or just to chat, she is always sure of attentive interest and sound advice from this keen observer of campus life and its problems.

Beautiful

The past few years have witnessed radical changes in the appearance of the Millsaps campus. The Buie Gymnasium and Whitworth Hall are comparatively recent structures, while walks, drives, and shrubbery have sprung up everywhere. These improvements have made Millsaps a show place in Jackson and a bright spot in the entire South.

The Student Executive Board, which is the formal student governing body, accomplished this year the adoption of a much needed student calendar and also a revision of the student body constitution.

Under the capable leadership of Student Body President Bo Murry, these and other achievements show this year's Board to be the most active in many a year.

Organized only a year ago as an off-spring of the Woman's Association, this group easily finds opportunities to take a hand in almost everything that comes up on the campus. Its sage counsel is often sought—the change in Saturday night co-ed hours from eleven to twelve, and the extra privileges for seniors witness its effectiveness. Meeting monthly with a membership made up of representatives from the different sororities and women's organizations, they use their feminine wiles to persuade President, Dean, and general public to recognize the co-eds' campus rights.

The Associate Staff in action

The Purple and White does more to influence student opinion and to rally the student body around some vital issue than any other one factor on the campus. One of the most popular of student activities, its staff cannot meet together in the new office all at one time, as witnessed by the picture above.

This year the business staff has completed a survey, begun last year, showing how much Millsaps students spend in Jackson and what items they buy. In their spare moments they sell ads, distribute papers to the students, and mail copies to subscribers.

BIG SHOTS

Worthy of special mention, in addition to Editor Robertson and Business Manager Burwell, are Josephine Timberlake and Martha Mansfield, editor and business manager of the Co-Ed Edition; and Charline Harris, Mitchell Wells, and Donald Winner, editor and co-business managers of the Freshman Edition.

The BOB

EDITOR WHITE

In spite of numerous set-backs, such as the Glee Club trip, comprehensives, and a very busy staff, the 1941 Bobashela has finally managed to come from the press. Indispensable to the editor were Helen Ricks, who was always willing to manage everything; snapshot artists Birdsong, Fox, and Ward; and John Rundle, who wrote the caustic comments. Mims Wright of Jackson is responsible for many of the pictures included.

This year's business staff operated under a different set-up to those in the past. Business Manager Clark and his staff have succeeded well in giving the student body a larger book and in keeping the editor satisfied. Especially helpful in this department were Rice Wilson, Eva Decell, and Mary Stone, who struck fear into the heart of every club treasurer at her approach.

DIRECTOR

Mr. Alvin J. King, known simply as "Pop" to all his students, has made the Millsaps Singers nationally known. Although he divides his time between the college and the Jackson High Schools, his greatest loyalty lies with Millsaps, and in the last six years he has carried the Singers through Mississippi and surrounding states on annual "good will tours".

MR. ALVIN J. KING

Again this year the student body minus forty-four has been forced to listen to that forty-four's tales of "mountainous Kentucky roads, Highbee's in Cleveland, and SNOW in Wooster", for the high point of the Singer's year was another "good will" tour which extended through Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, and Ohio. After a brief period of anxiety over cuts, this excited group of Singers boarded Joe Greyhound on March 24, to spend two whole weeks singing, exaggerating southern drawls, and nick-naming all the Joes and Josies. Chief stops were Birmingham, Cleveland, Pop King's home town, Smithville, Ohio, the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, Louisville, and Chaperone Aunt Josie Stone's home town, Fayetteville, Tennessee. Joe Driver Marsh safely returned the Singers, garrulous and happy, on April 4.

Pre-trip activities of the Singers included presentation of Handel's "The Messiah" at Christmas and numerous Sunday trips to Mississippi towns, as well as a number of local concerts. On May 20, the club sponsored the concert of Andrew Gainey, a former member of the Singers who has gained recognition as a concert baritone. On June 1, the Singers presented their final program of the year, a Spring Festival, on the steps of Sullivan-Harrell Hall.

Dramatics at Millsaps have blossomed forth this year as never before. Under the direction of Dr. M. C. White the club has presented a variety of one act plays and one full length play, Death Takes A Holiday. The Players have acquired this year a good deal of much-needed backstage equipment which, along with a large amount of new talent, has done much to make this year's presentations far superior to those of the past. Death Takes A Holiday marks a new high in Millsaps productions. In this play, Dr. White, through the cast and scenery, managed to achieve a tremendous effect which made the audience forget it was watching amateurs. Death was enthusiastically received by the student body and outsiders alike and has done much to focus the attention of Jackson play-goers on the Millsaps Players. Among the one act plays given this year were Pink and Patches, The Sound and the Fury, The Man in the Bowler Hat, His First Date, The Black Valise, and The Valiant.

The Dramatic Club in part.

The Dramatic Club was carefully reorganized this year, and as a result the membership comprises almost one-fifth of the student body. This year Joe Brooks served as president, with Betty Larsen and Bob Nichols as vice president and secretary, respectively. In the fall the club sponsored a lecture on the art of make-up.

Scenes from DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY

Alpha Psi Omega is the power behind Millsaps' program of dramatics. Membership is composed of those who have shown their ability in acting, makeup, stage or business managing, property collecting, and the like. Considering the number of students who participate in dramatics, its membership of eighteen is rather conservative. Officers this year were Mary Stone, president; Joe Brooks, vice-president; and Nelson Nail, secretary. The members meet, when there is a quorum, to discuss the problems facing the club and to initiate newcomers.

The title of Master Major or Miss Millsaps is the highest honor which a Millsaps student can receive. Each represents the student who is most outstanding in the widest field of activity. Traditionally won by seniors, these positions were voted this year, and rightly so, to Charles Murry and Elizabeth Campbell.

The SENIOR

PRESIDENT

Joel McDavid, one of the most popular of Millsaps' preachers, has done a full year's work persuading the Class of '41 to leave a memorial—the new columns at the North State entrance bespeak his efforts. The towering young man from Alabama is also president of the Christian Council, a power in ODK and the Y Cabinet.

OFFICERS

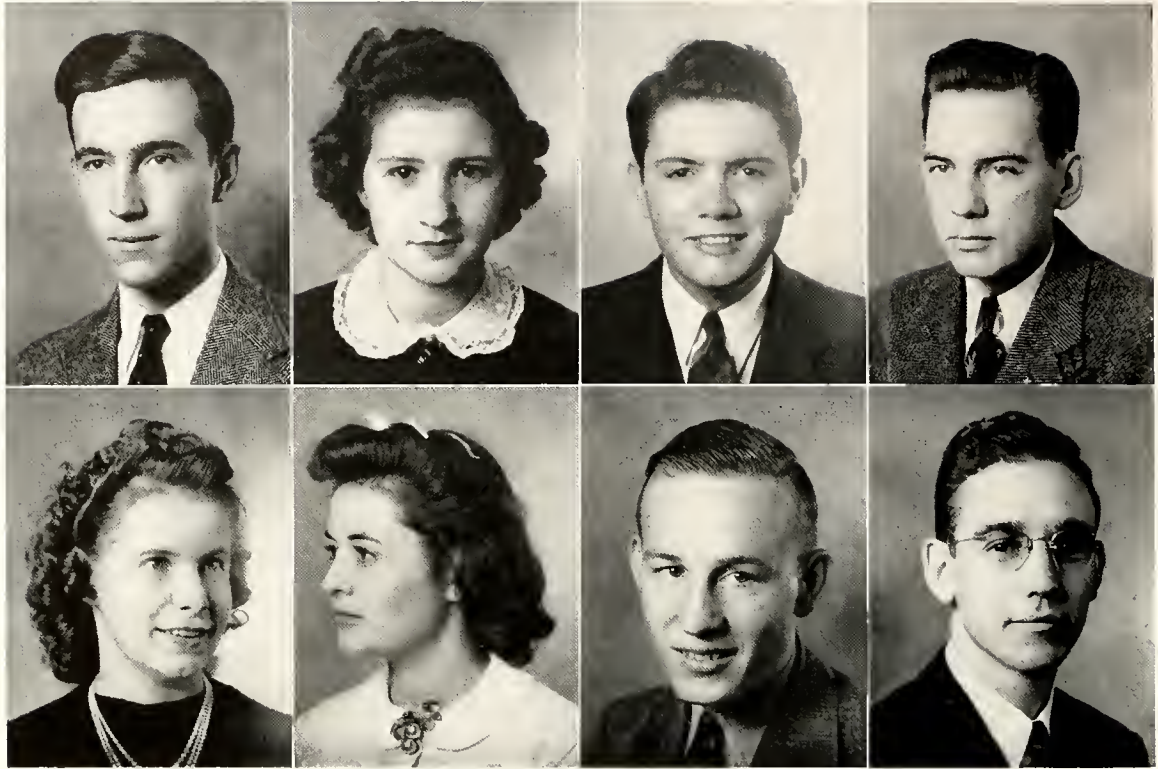

Succeeding himself as vice-president of the Class of '41 is Charlie Ward, Millsaps' star athlete. Few (including, especially, the neighboring Choctaws) who have seen Chunkin' Charlie's agile performance on the basketball court, the gridiron, or the baseball diamond will ever forget him.

Another repeat, we find Maxine Young of Terry again secretary of her class. Mack mothers Millsaps M-Men—is pretty good at tennis, herself. She'll teach school next year—maybe.

Class

Representative of the feeling of the Senior Class are Nat Rogers, Jim Wroten, and Roy Clark. As campus leaders they have made their mark in college activities and are concerned chiefly with what will come after they regretfully lay aside cap and gown.

The JUNIOR

PRESIDENT

By now a big-time politician Willie Branch is still president of his class. PiKA'S outstanding Founder's Hall representative, Willie plays football and basketball, majors in Physics, and was elected vice-president of the student body for '41-'42. Someday, probably, he will coach.

OFFICERS

Sidney Graves, better known through the Finger of Scorn (he didn't miss a week) as "Drip" will soon seriously embark on the career of medical student. He definitely makes himself heard in dramatics, P&W, AED, Y Cabinet, and around the campus. An outstanding talent seems to be an ability to become involved in tangled romances.

Rounding out this trio of Junior politicians is Mary Stone, Queen of Faculty Row. Mary is well known as a Singer, Rambler, French student, and adopted member of the New Dormitory gang. She'll wield the gavel next year for Chi Omega.

Class

Belonging to the most active class on the campus, Graham and Evaline, Sam and Helen typify that restless Junior Spirit—the desire to be always doing. Millsaps is the center of their lives—they have taken over campus affairs, but are not yet burdened with the thought of life after college.

The SOPHOMORE

PRESIDENT

Harwell Dabbs, president of the Sophomore Class, goes native each summer in Tupelo, where, as bronzed life-guard, he exhibits his Tarzan-like physique in the swimming pool. Regardless of the fact that he's a studious pre-med, Harwell is also Millsaps' most triumphant orator and all-round activity man.

OFFICERS

Vice-President Davis Christmas, in his second year as class officer, is still one of Millsaps' most likable gridiron heroes. Well known to all the cafeteria diners, this lad from Vicksburg is a serious Chemistry student—and a good one.

Secretary Bess Green of Jackson spends most of her time patiently listening to her class president. She enjoys swimming (at least the sun-bathing) and badminton, and idealistically wants to do some type of social work.

Class

Mary Lee, Sara, and Ruth have already grown rich in Millsaps spirit—a genuine love of the college and its campus. Having at least begun to “settle down,” the Sophomores are probably the best and most serious students.

The FRESHMAN

PRESIDENT

Buddy Wofford, president of the Freshman Class, is living up to the example set by his brother Bill, who was quite a politician in his own right at Millsaps. Buddy is a shining light in the Singers and also with the co-eds. His talents have been found indispensable to the Millsaps orchestra and to the Varsity Show.

OFFICERS

Walter Ridgway, who served this year both as vice-president of the Freshman Class and as vice-president of the KA pledges, is also an enthusiastic, if small, member of the Singers and the Pre-Med Club. He's proficient, too, in tennis and ping-pong, and "likes the feeling among the students here."

Says Jean Morris of the raven tresses, "I just don't have time for hobbies—guess I'm most interested in eating." (Slow, Jean, don't forget the Pikes.) Denying that she's a play-girl, she points out that her ambition is vaguely connected with medicine, her favorite subject—Zoology.

Class

In many ways college is still another lark to the freshmen, but they are beginning to realize just what Millsaps means, and to catch the spirit. This, their most eventful year, is spent in learning to know the people with whom their next three years will be lived and the campus whereon they will be centered.

ATHLETICS

The COACHES

Serving in the capacities of Director of Athletics at Millsaps and coach of football and basketball, Henry L. "Hook" Stone has completed two highly successful years in senior college athletics. Following the resignation of former Coach B. O. Van Hook as Athletic Director, Coach Stone assumed this responsibility and has molded a good football team and has helped to guide the Major Five to another Dixie Conference championship. Success during the past two years has been Coach Stone's because of his iron rule practice session discipline and because he has taken an active interest in the players themselves.

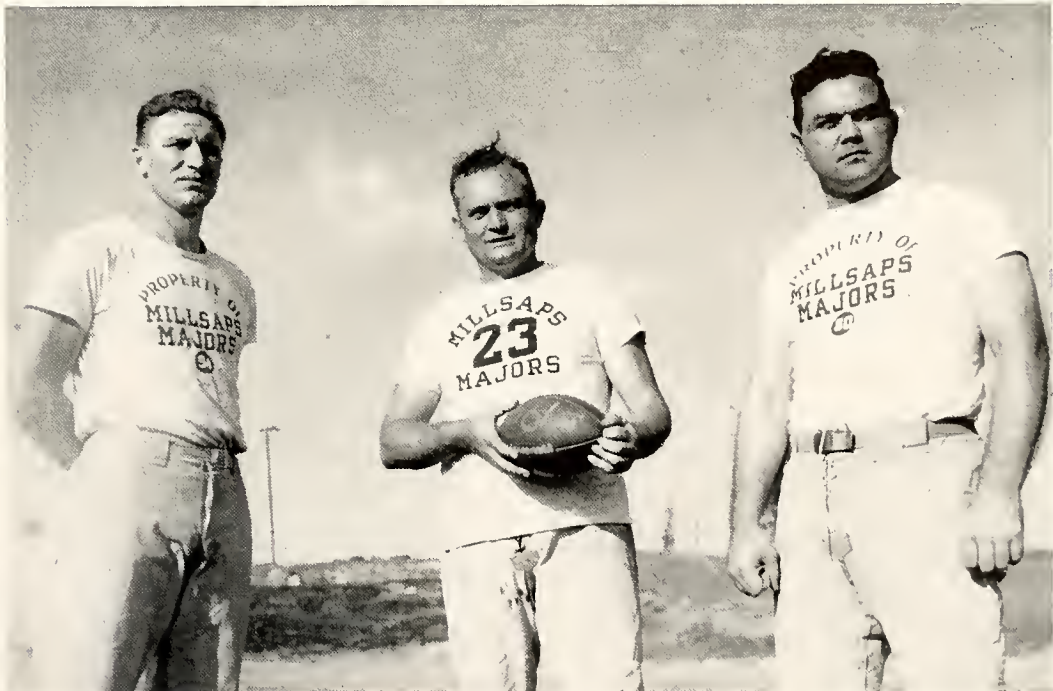

Well liked, efficient, and valuable co-worker on the athletic staff has been Coach Bernie Ward. Also in his second year at Millsaps, Coach Ward has played a vital part in building this year's superb basketball squad. Baseball was also under his supervision.

Coach Melvin Richardson made a successful football assistant and was also coach of track.

THE FOOTBALL TEAM AS A UNIT

F O O T B A L L

The 1940 grid season, despite appearances on paper to the contrary, was one of the most successful in recent years. In his second year at Millsaps Coach Hook Stone led his Major eleven through a season which yielded four wins, four losses and one tie.

Although there were times when the Majors played mediocre football, at their best they were a great eleven. Top performance of the year came when the Millsaps eleven turned in a brilliant 14-7 victory over a surprised Mississippi Southern squad.

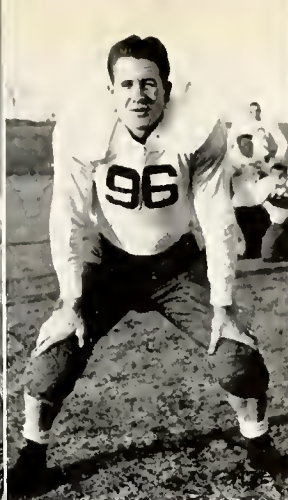

A greatly increased enthusiasm in this year's student body was due largely to the work done by the cheerleaders. Under the guidance of Head Cheerleader Judge Graham Brady, this group, consisting of Beverley Dickerson, Maxine Young, Eleanor Castle, Marion McGough, and Fred Tatum strove diligently to work the student body into a frenzy.

Many individual members of the team deserve special mention for outstanding service during the 1940 season; however, lack of space permits the selection of only a few. Undoubtedly the most outstanding linesman under Hook Stone's tutelage was Captain Granvil Hamby. Evidence of his ability was his selection for his second straight year as a member of the mythical All-Dixie Eleven. Consistent both on offence and defense was newcomer Robert West, towering tackle on the Major eleven, with Upton and Jay Smith doing some able assisting at their respective positions of guard and tackle. In the backfield Columbia's Ed Matulich was the season's best with his elusive style of broken field running. Top honors in yardage gained went to fullback Henry Steinriede. Ed Gillum and Mayo Pittman deserve special mention for brilliant ball carrying.

In what proved to be the high point of the football season for the Millsaps eleven, the Majors turned back a highly-touted Mississippi Southern team by a 14-7 score. Battling all the way the local gridsters played superior ball with Steinriede, Matulich, Hamby, Upton, and West leading the way. Enthusiasm was high as old graduates and students enjoyed a bitter struggle between the two rivals.

The Majors started strong in 1940. After upsetting Louisiana College 14-0 they traveled to Delta State and returned with an easy 12-0 triumph.

Before a capacity crowd at Alumni field the following week the Majors routed a weak Hendrix College eleven by the score of 33-7. Coach Stone substituted freely and honors for the evening were evenly distributed.

In their fourth start of the year the Stonemen battled the strong S. L. I. aggregation to a 0-0 deadlock. The Majors displayed an impenetrable defense against a heavier eleven and an offense that fell just short of scoring several times.

Striking early in the first quarter the Mississippi College Choctaws continued blitz tactics throughout the game to push over a surprising 27-0 win over the bewildered Majors in this annual grudge battle. Despite occasional bursts of power the Majors never reached the proficiency which they had displayed in former games and of which they were capable. Over a thousand Major backers followed the team to Clinton where the game was played.

On the rebound from the Choctaw disaster the Majors met and fell before an inferior Spring Hill eleven. Final score was 17-0.

During the huddle the team decides upon tactics, both of offense and defense. It is from this all-important pow-wow that games are won and heroes are made. Here we see the first string in huddle.

THE FIRST TEAM CONFERS.

The usually stalwart Major defense was totally ineffective as Millsaps fans saw the football season reach its lowest ebb.

Slated to go down in overwhelming defeat before the Southeastern Conference giant, Mississippi State, the Majors came back in surprising style to lose 46-13 after leading the Bulldogs at the half. The play of Ward, Matulich, and Jay Smith was outstanding in behalf of the Millsaps cause.

BAKER LENDS A HELPING HAND.

In the dressing room the men help each other into their togs, plan ahead for the game to come, or rehash the game which has just been played. During the strenuous practice season the dressing room becomes a second dormitory to our gridiron heroes.

These shots of the Howard-Millsaps game show the Majors striving desperately to overcome a lead which was taken early in the game. This was the only afternoon game of the year played at home.

Climax of the season came when the Stonemen met the Howard College gridsters in the only day game of the year at Alumni field. A second half rally in which they displayed mid-season form came too late to overcome an early lead gained by the visitors in the first half and the Major eleven fell before an alert Alabama squad by a 28-14 score. Ed Gillum and Pap Hamby turned in good performances during the afternoon.

BASKETBALL

Annexing the Dixie Conference championship for the second year in succession, the 1941 Millsaps Basketball Team closely approached the status of athletic perfection.

Loyal Millsaps supporters were worried when former coach of basketball B. O. Van Hook gave up athletics, but at the season's end they had nothing but praise for the work of new head coach Bernie Ward.

With a brilliant record of twenty-three wins and only four losses the Major cagers surpassed all former records and were undeniably the class of the Dixie Conference.

The PLAYERS

A hotly contested series of games with Mississippi College yielded two wins for each school with the Majors drawing final blood when they crushed their ancient rivals in a Dixie Conference semi-final thriller.

Prowess of the Major cagers is evidenced by their clean sweep of the Dixie Tournament. Fans who saw the Millsaps team down Spring Hill, Chattanooga, Mississippi College, and Loyola, all in short order, were agreed that it deserved its place in basketball's hall of fame.

Boasting two near-professional quintets of veterans and skilled newcomers, the Majors played spectacular as well as steady basketball. Spectators were kept on edge as the Millsaps five handled the ball with dazzling skill or changed at will from the old slow break style to a more rapid brand of basketball.

Returning from last year's championship team were Charlie Ward, Clifton Jones, Oscar Tynes, Willie Branch, Willie Carter, Milan Richardson, and Joe Willie Miles. New men who aided the Major cause this year were Jay Smith, Charles Kemmitzer, and Buddy Carr.

Individual honors went to rangy Charlie Ward and sharpshooting Clifton Jones when they were placed on the All Dixie Conference five. Buddy Carr and Jay Smith were always popular with the fans for their daring attacks, and Willie Branch at his best played spectacular ball.

Results of the 1941 track season are not complete, but progress early in the season has been encouraging.

Meets have been scheduled with Mississippi College, Louisiana Tech and other neighboring colleges and competition throughout the season will be difficult.

The Major thin clads were blessed with the return of numbers of veterans from last year's squad, while talented transfers complete a formidable roster. Outstanding in high hurdles is Ford (Scoop) Canterbury whose speed and form promise to win many firsts for the Majors. Gordon Worthington, four year veteran, has repeatedly proved his ability as a jumper and is expected to star again this year. Handling low hurdles and the dashes will be veteran Joe Willie Miles and a new comer, Bill Fullilove.

Coach Bernie Ward has the material on hand to mould one of the strongest Major thin clad aggregations in recent years.

Behind the expert pitching of "Chunkin" Charlie Ward, ably assisted by Brandon Bell and Wendell Hart, and the consistent hitting of Milan Richardson, Robert Shell and Ed Matulich the Millsaps Baseball Team battled its way through a turbulent but successful season.

In the won-lost column the Majors broke even with six victories and six defeats. Games with such strong teams as Ole Miss, Spring Hill and Mississippi College were typical of the competition which the Majors faced this year. In a three game series with the Mississippi College nine the Majors took two and dropped one hard fought contest.

Coach Ward will have most of his 1941 squad back next year to build what promises to be the best Major Baseball team in years.

Under the tutelage of Dr. M. C. White the 1941 Tennis team, considering handicaps, has done well.

As we go to press matches are still to be played and prospects for a successful completion of the season are good.

Crippled by the loss of Johnny Miller, dynamic little star of last year's squad, the Major Netters have taken one of the three matches played so far, dropping two to stronger squads.

MISS FRANCES DECELL

Under the guiding hand of Miss Frances Decell the women's athletic department has made great progress. In one short year she has begun a real program of gymnasium work, such as tumbling and dancing, to satisfy the college requirements in physical training. Outdoor sports are also an integral part of the program. Most popular sports with the co-eds are riding, tennis, golf, swimming, and archery. This year a comprehensive program of girl's intra-mural athletics has been included. Intra-murals this year have been popular and all-inclusive and have drawn their share of the spectators along with football and basketball. The goal of athletically-minded co-eds is the Majorette Club.

DIRECTOR

Miss Frances Decell, a newcomer to the Millsaps faculty, has been one of its most active members. The position of Women's Athletic Director is a new one at the college, and under Miss Decell the program has expanded tremendously. Her friendly personality has endeared her to faculty and students alike, and she has made the college justly proud of its women's physical training department.

MILTON CANIFF

Selects the Beauties

The task of choosing Millsaps' most beautiful co-eds is always a difficult one. This year Milton Caniff, a young American artist of proven talent and promising future, well known to college students as the creator of such beauties as the Dragon Lady, Burma, and Normandie Drake, kindly agreed to lend a critical eye to Millsaps pulchritude. The pictures of twenty beautiful girls chosen by the heads of all social groups on the campus were sent to him for his opinion. The results of his selection are as you find them in the following pages: Milli-cent Lampe, Most Beautiful; Gertrude Triplett, Tip Stuart, Faola Lowe, Una Caldwell, and Shirley Chichester in the order listed.

Since 1914 when Phi Zeta became Epsilon chapter of Phi Mu and the first national sorority at Millsaps, things have rolled smoothly along, at least until the recent succession of red-heads came to clash with the pink carnations which les soeurs fideles hold sacred. The sorority looms important in politics and scholarship, proudly exhibits Nell's convertible, Corinne's Packard, and a monopoly on "Miss Millsaps." Among les plus fideles des soeurs are: Miss Millsaps Campbell; Aquatic-performer-prexy Ball; Beauties Triplett, Stuart, and Lowe; and mugging Betty Murphy.

Late in 1914 Kappa Deltas at Millsaps first donned the diamond shield and began passing the word, "Your's in AOT." Since then they have mingled their green and white in various activities — dramatics, politics, and glee club in particular. With eleven sisters in the Singers this year, the chapter has considered making a good voice a prerequisite of membership. Athletically inclined members are still conspicuously absent, though, — the record of no intramural cups standing intact. The lodge boasts of having the highest marriage percentage on the campus; a corner on freshman editors; a group of hot-headed politicians; Sig L's Larsen and Gerald; Cheerleaders Young and Castle; and the campus trio, "June, Jidge, 'n' Jee."

In 1926, after an anxious summer of petitioning, the local Pi Kappas were inducted by the Belhaven chapter (they had sororities then) into the national mysteries of Beta Sigma Omicron. From then on out, the Beta Sigs have made their place among the sorority girls at Millsaps, excelling particularly in forensics, scholarship, and athletics. The chapter keeps in the ruby and pink with Currie's limousine and a monopoly on intramural cups. Wrinkles in the chapter brow are: Freshmen Morson and Applewhite, eternal agitators, and Yankee Neu, whose brogue is THAT thick. And the Grecian lamp shines brightly on: Journalist Peeler, Debater Godbold, and Athletes Beasley and Rush.

Back about 1934 the Tri Chis swapped their X's for one "X and a horseshoe" to bring the number of national sororities on the campus to the sum total of four. Chief inspiration of campus wise-cracks this year has been the four score or so names on the chapter roll, but the Chi O's can take it (along with fraternity pins, which number six). Three convertibles, three Sigma Lambdas, and a much exploited pull with the profs are counted to their credit. Well known also are the protracted initiations (they enjoy a week of it), their inability to win an election, innumerable Chi Omega songs (plus a piano), and Beverley's pin.

The Sons of the South pride themselves on being "aristocrats" both of Dixie and of Millsaps, where they are the oldest chapter on the campus. Since 1893 Millsaps K.A.'s have worshipped at the shrine of Lee and the Confederacy, worn the crimson rose, played billiards in their Game Room, and immersed themselves in campus politics. This year, with the help of the alumni, the frateres have taken a new interest in southern womanhood and distributed pins to some half dozen fair examples on the campus, several elsewhere. Leisurely led by "Ho-Hum" Rogers, Lauderdale, and Rundle the Gentlemen held a state convention, kept the south end of the campus noisy, and surprised themselves by winning one intramural cup.

Since 1895 the star and crescent have illumined the south corner of the campus and shone over barn dances, baseball diamonds, and gridirons. Having been called everything from playboys to Grillhounds, it remained for this year's chapter to turn scholar and lackadaisically polish off an index of 1.68. Be wary of your idiosyncrasies when around the Sigs—they have the knack of beginning nicknames that stick, as witness "Hant" Eager, "Body" Hansell, "Truck" Watkins, "Politico" Harris, et al. Bragging (or confessing) the list among their number such campus characters as "Preacher" McCafferty, "Baldy" Burwell, "Killum" Kellum, Drs. Cavett and Martin, "Pressbox" Rabb, Gradyandpat, and athletes Richardson and Samuels.

Lucky in politics, unlucky in love—these Shield and Diamonders are the only fraternity on the campus which can boast a pinning score of 0 for the year. The Pikes point with pride to a chapter of individuals, ranging from Calvin and Cudge to David Donald and Graham McFarlane. Chief news of the year was the complete annexation of the Wright family—including Olga, who left the Millsaps brotherhood cold in favor of a member of the State tribe. Life for the boys on Marshall Street is far from simple: The younger members follow the time-honored Pike tradition of trying to be B. M. O. C., build floats until five A. M., and generally worry the student body sick with their antics—while the Old Guard, composed of Clark, Murry, Painter, Wilson, and White sit around the chapter house (still new) in glorified bull sessions concerning roseate dreams of the past and refuse to worry about the future.

1940-41 for the boys on Livingstone Street saw the rise of Sam Schiek to challenge the reputation of older brother Brooks as a character actor, the continued popularity of Ed Dawkins and guitar at Lambda Chi picnics, and the emergence of Alan Holmes as an indispensable adjunct to the debate club. Kolb, Holmes, and Addison functioned as a Brain Trust—Kolb, surprisingly enough, revealing hidden talents as a jitterbug. Lambda Chis, in general, concern themselves little with the co-eds, concentrate their efforts on intramural contests with enviable results.

E T A S I G M A

Donald, Kolb, Lauderdale, McFarlane, Roby, White, Currie, Fincher, Moore, Ricketts, Riecken, Wharton.

Some people do make A's.

To prove that a straight-A student is neither mythical, prehistoric, nor extinct we give you Eta Sigma and its members, chosen for excellence in scholarship from the Junior and Senior Classes.

Eta Sigma has been working this year toward affiliation with Phi Beta Kappa, to which most of its faculty members already belong, and to that fraternity we recommend them as neither book-worms nor geniuses—enough to say that they make A's at Millsaps!

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Burwell, Cavett, Clark, Holmes, Holyfield, Lauderdale, Murry, McDavid, Painter, Robertson, Rogers, Sumrall, White, Wroten, Moore, Riecken, Wharton.

Pi circle of Omicron Delta Kappa has, since 1926, awarded its golden key to those male students of Millsaps who measured up to the highest standards of leadership (and could pass the club). Members are honored because of prominence in such activities as forensics, publications, athletics, scholarship, and club work. One of the strongest of national honoraries, ODK marks its brothers for recognition wherever they go.

At their monthly meetings these Big Shots discuss ways and means of improving Millsaps, agree upon some projects which they sponsor with the success characteristic of their individual activities. The active circle includes five faculty members, and, each year, one alumnus member.

Campbell, Chichester, Gerald, Khayat, Larsen, Moore, Ricks.

With the Green Room as a sort of unofficial meeting place these B.W.O.C. gather each month with an eye to the past, present, and future of Millsaps women. ...Having affiliation with Mortar Board as an annual project secondary only to the Varsity Show, Sig L's press onward toward the prize—whatever it may be.

Seven members grace the ranks of this auspicious group—among whom are Shirley Chichester, who wields a feeble gavel at the head of the table; Secretary Khayat, who cries periodically for lamps for Galloway parlor; Helen Ricks, who enthusiastically dreams up wonderful things for Sigma

Lambda to do, while Mary Alyce Moore firmly states that there is not one available date on the student calendar for the next two years, and Martha Gerald, who impatiently urges a revision of the point system. In the midst of Betty Larsen's discussion of the latest act for the Varsity Show, the climax comes when Lib Campbell, if present, calmly rises and announces, "I've just got to get home."

Faculty members Stone, Cobb, and Craig provide steadying hands, cool heads, and the wisdom of experience.

They get together with the YW and the Christian Council to hold the always-successful

PI KAPPA DELTA

Castle, Clark, Donald, Fox, Gerald, Gwin, Holmes, Holyfield, Lauderdale, McFarlane, Rogers, Wroten, Wharton.

Millsaps' favorite sons and daughters—and rightly so, one becomes convinced—are her debaters and orators, who time after time have brought home to Alma Mater those gleaming cups and medals. Each year the most silver-tongued of these argumentative champions are gathered into Pi Kappa Delta, a national forensic fraternity boasting 148 chapters.

In December the Millsaps Debate Tournament was sponsored by the local chapter. Throughout Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee, and Mississippi the platforms have resounded with the cases of these fluent public speakers, who climaxed their season by arguing their way into the Mississippi championship at the State Tournament.

Mississippi Alpha of Alpha Epsilon Delta, national pre-medical fraternity, includes the most promising doctors-to-be in a school well known for its science department. The chapter this year helped in giving physical examinations to most of the students, began a drive for a college infirmary, made trips to Sanatorium and to Whitfield, and held open forum for all interested students.

The Pre-Medical Club, sponsored by AED, includes all pre-medical students at Millsaps. At its bi-weekly meetings the club hears outstanding physicians of Jackson and the surrounding territory and presents student programs by its members. Each year a select few of the club members find their way into Alpha Epsilon Delta.

Brooks, Donald, Farr, Kolb, Painter, Powers, Robertson, Rundle, Moore, Ricketts, Sanders, Wharton, White.

Membership in Kit Kat, so it is claimed, is the greatest distinction which can come to creative writers and students of literature at Millsaps. The oldest honorary on the campus, Kit Kat was for years affiliated with a national literary organization, but decided of late that its own prestige is sufficient and went local.

These literati meet, theoretically, once a month (in reality, whenever the mood strikes them) in a glorified bull-session where they eat heartily, boast of all they've read, and present original masterpieces to the club for critical demolition. Some day, come the millenium, a more aspiring member of the group will publish a best-seller, but there is small possibility even then that his Kit Kat brothers will like it.

CHI DELTA

Ball, Chichester, Cobb, Gerald, Larsen, Ricks, Sheffield, Stone, Thomas.

Chi Delta, or "Bluestockings" as they are more informally called, claims to be a local organization of literary minded young ladies. At their two or three "monthly" meetings they sip over tea and cookies—present original stories and poems, tending usually toward sentimentality.

Unlike their Kit Kat brothers, Chi Deltas gush effusedly over each other's creations—regard all their sisters as "very, very talented." From tap-day appearances, female literary genius abounds at Millsaps—the best of it swarms into Chi Delta.

DELTA KAPPA DELTA

Birdsong, Brady, Burwell, Daniels, Fox, Holmes, Holyfield, Kolb, Lauderdale, Lloyd, Rabb, Rundle, Timberlake.

For its membership Delta Kappa Delta taps those students most actively interested in law and political science. The route into the fraternity lies usually through the Pre-Law Club which is now sponsored by the honorary organization. Founded locally in 1939, DKD is one of the few pre-law fraternities in existence.

At their meetings these legally minded students prepare themselves for law school, receive advice from prominent attorneys, discuss matters of civic interest to the campus, and occasionally fraternize with the Choctaw law Club. Leading the club this year were Dickie Lauderdale, president for the second time, and Professor R. R. Haynes, sponsor.

If one looks slyly and sharply to his left he may discover this subversive group of laborites (that's Grady), history students, and Chi Omegas smugly professing inside knowledge of world affairs.

At the bi-weekly meetings, this year under the Moore-Rogers dictatorship, they doze through statistic-crammed reports on the Argentine linseed crop, the rights of workers, and isolation policies; argue vociferously over the slept-through topics; patiently explain current events to the lady-members (who, it seems, never read the papers); and suffer wearily through a one-way stream of puns. The only conclusion ever reached concerns the program committee—that is, if anyone is unfortunately absent from the meeting.

Students of the classics who achieve a B average for three semesters in their chosen language are eligible for membership in the national honorary fraternity, Eta Sigma Phi. President Carl Miller, who served this year as National Secretary, presided seriously over the meetings which were called, apparently, at the suggestion of the muses. The Greeks had a word for some things, but it would have taxed their vocabulary to describe the annual Eta Sigma Phi banquet, a linguistic triumph.

Geology students automatically become Ramblers—Corinne Ball taking the name literally and turning the Packard loose to ramble even so far as Memphis. Among the scientifically inclined pedestrians are: Fossil Queen Graham; Mary Stone, modern prototype of a shy Indian maid; and Sponsor Sullivan, who tries in vain to introduce a serious note. Picnics, all day jaunts in the school bus, and afternoon hikes (there still isn't a student who can outwalk Dr. Sullivan) help account for the large membership.

The B E E T H O V

Patroness of the Beethoven Club, as well as instructor of piano, is Mrs. J. L. Roberts. Her methods of teaching have been praised by a number of leading artists, and the results obtained can be pointed to with pride by the college and the community. She works untiringly to fire her students with the ambition which she herself has for them, and it is largely due to her that the Beethoven Club looms so important this year.

Meeting on Tuesday nights right after Glee Club, the Beethoven Club has served as a weekly serenade for Founder's occupants and a uniting group for musically inclined students. While the nucleus of the group is composed of those students studying piano and voice, non-participating members are urged to join, and, indeed, predominate numerically this year. Talent from the piano and voice departments combines to give programs calculated to present a bird's-eye view of the development of musical history. The Beethoven Club Guest Night this year presented a program of ensemble music to Jackson musicians.

Although the membership is predominantly feminine, the club has for its president one of the few male members. The ambitious program chairman prepared this year a detailed year book which was seldom followed, but the programs were musically informative and pleasing to the ear.

A sort of junior conference in itself, the Ministerial League includes the future pastors of Southern Methodism, many of whom are already active in church work in and near Jackson.

Led this year by president Waddell Roberts, the League has met weekly for the discussion of church problems, furnished teachers for Jackson Sunday Schools, and kept a close check on campus affairs.

at large, the Christian Council seeks to coordinate the religious activities on the Millsaps campus.

Each year they sponsor the genuinely popular Religious Emphasis Week, the Pre-Easter faculty-student discussions, and, together with the Y's, the frolicsome Student Body Retreat in the spring.

Gibson, Trimble, Dinkins, Weissinger, Campbell, Beasley, Galloway, Rush, Barnett, Lampe, Ruoff.

If you've been agitating for more girl's sports on the campus and for something to be done about intra-murals, the Majorette Club is your answer. Under the guidance of Miss Frances Decell this comparatively recent organization has already proved its worth. A week-end camping trip, the stunt night you applauded so enthusiastically, and the intra-murals you attended (people really did go, for the first time in the history of the college) were all projects sponsored by these athletically inclined young ladies.

Under the leadership of Hettie Faye Beasley, this group, composed of sorority and Emphyrean representatives, has already formulated a complicated point system whereby those interested in sports may be considered for membership.

Majors who earn their letters in one of the four major sports at Millsaps are eligible for membership in the "M" Club, one of Millsaps' strongest honorary organizations. Ably led this year by Little Rich (Milan Richardson, to put it formally), the club concerned itself with problems of athletics and of school spirit; celebrated Spring with its annual picnic; held a two day initiation, the horrors of which are mentioned only in whispers.

One of the favorite hangouts on the campus for Founder's Hall lettermen is the "M" Club Room, conveniently located near the Grill. Here, among the shining trophies of tournament and gridiron, the athletics read, study, snooze, and shoot the bull.

Under the leadership of Charlton Roby and Dr. Wallace, these financial wizards meet twice a month to discuss whatever matters of business interest economically minded students. Topics such as banking, insurance, accounting, buying and selling, and business law are pretty well covered by student programs and by lectures from outstanding men in Jackson's various fields of commerce.

Youngest of Millsaps' pre-professional organizations, the Economics Club provides practical training, helpful information, and valuable contacts for students who have an eye to success in the business world.

FINGERS of DESTINY

By JOHN RUNDLE

Tom to the contrary notwithstanding, the first column to be read in each week's "Purple and White" is, almost invariably, the much curst, awe inspiring "Finger of Scorn." Differing from the typical gossip column, the "Finger" presents a more intimate view of campus affairs than is to be found in either the news stories of the "P&W" or the snapshot section of this year-book—a view that is of more genuine interest to the student body, more enlightening as to its membership.

Believing that it forms an accurate calendar of Life at Millsaps—1940-41, we present for the refreshment of your memories selected excerpts from the "Finger of Scorn." Five—ten—fifteen years from now these should be even more interesting — divorce courts may find them useful.

SEPTEMBER — school opens — amidst the confusion of Rush Week a ghostly figure is dimly seen to rise from the still smoldering ashes of the late-lamented Dirt Dauber. Or perhaps he was never seen at all, for, mysteriously, he has remained invisible—invisible except for one long, black, inky finger that is always pointing. Look! It's pointing now!

"Well, well, well, Billy Ross has put up a staunch protest against the Ruoff girl calling her other two admirers Clabee and Edbee. Says Billy, 'She'll put a stop to that or else call me Bilbee.'"

"— with Olga's treasure-nec, the Pious Pikes' (almost unpious for once) Roof party (dancing 'n' all!), receptions, deceptions, elections, and so on—the seat of the scornful has not been empty."

OCTOBER—the football season is underway, and oh that harvest moon!

"The finger of scorn is pointed directly at Ed Matulich for causing such heart-aches to two Chi Omegas in his Spanish class. Even from my perch at the ball game Friday night (Millsaps 33-Hendrix 7!) I could hear them squeal happily every time Ed's name came over the loud speaker—but Ed will hear to nothing more than two beautiful friendships."

"Congratulations, Dora Frances, for hooking him at last. Guess Boyd will have to find somebody else's girl to look after now."

"All conventional triangles are worthy of scorn, and this Clark-McCafferty-Watkins case is as conventional as a dime-store novel."

And at last, the Fair comes to town!—

"Grady Powers took a different girl to the fair every night—and a few of them are alive to tell the tale."

"Freshman Harold Stevens and Jean 'Ace of Spades' Morris rode thirteen times on the rocket at the fair—and if you've ever ridden on the rocket, you'll know why."

And then the Y Banquet—

"The Finger is pointed scornfully at the whole male portion of the student body for allowing Squinchy Moore to go to the Y Banquet unescorted, save for satellite Sweet."

"The Pikes were sporting 'name' date—Waring with Morris; Navarro with Porter; Barlow with Miller; Doss with 'Oh, where is Nat' Ricks."

"Fie on Mary Stone for wanting to get married in the first place, and in the second place, for not wanting to marry Birdsong."

"A lowly finger at Mushroom Graves for letting Freshman Robinson beat his time on Park Avenue."

DIXIE GREYHOUND LINES

NOVEMBER—"Well the Choctaw game (shhh,— who mentioned that?) is over and everyone has settled down to study for nine weeks' tests." There was a little studying done this year.

"Latest chauffeur for Cupid is Prof. Haynes, who just smiles and chuckles sheepishly when you ask him what happened when Sarah Weissinger and Leo Bailey rode back from Tougaloo with him Sunday afternoon, all alone on the back seat."

"And we wonder when Dr. Wharton will get all the Ricketts boys married—so he can settle down." For further developments, read on.

And don't forget to read the ads!

"A finger toward Mary Stone, Betty Larsen, Shirley Chichester and some four-score other co-eds for raving openly about Harwell Dabbs' S. A." (Remember? that meant "sex appeal.")

"Heart-breaking, dashing Nelson Nail is still a constant visitor (or should we say intruder?) to the Miller's daughter, Alice Louise. I always knew that die-hards fall hard, but this looks like love to end all love."

"A particularly caustic finger extends toward Eugene Peacock for not even bothering to turn out the lights in the parlor of Galloway."

"Most amusing spectacle of the year—this Pooky Barnes-Drip Graves rivalry over 'the pink one.' It's a fight to the finish with no holds barred, except by Cele."

DECEMBER—Christmas in the air, consequently fewer dates on the campus.

"Bo Murry wants it understood that competition bothers him not in the least. Where it's concerned, he's just one of the Jones boys, anyhow."

TOMORROW AT MILLSAPS

When a man, a business or a college begins to live in the past, all progress ceases. New buildings, new courses, new highs in scholarship are proof that Millsaps is living in the future. Tomorrow at Millsaps means more than just another day — It means a new thrill in learning, a keener insight into the past, a greater hope for concrete achievement. Millsaps is a college for people with a future. Do you have one?

MILLSAPS COLLEGE

JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI

The glorious Band is leaving for camp amidst tearful farewells—

"Among the saddest at the band's departure will be Frances Irby. Reason: her newly budded romance with Julian Currie."

"Death Takes a Holiday's repeat last night gave the girls a chance to sigh once more over Jim Thompson and his uniform, the boys to whistle over Emma Bauer's sequin dress. (Wow!)"

"Football season's over but B. B. is still hollering (he never did holler at the right time)—this time it's because Mickey White and Dickie Lauderdale have cut him off Virginia Hansell's string."

The Finger took a couple of extra weeks for Christmas holidays, during which time the sophomore stole the Class Night with a skating party in the down-town rink, the Sigs, K.A.s, and Pikes had Christmas parties.

JANUARY—people begin to worry (just worry, not study) about exams, student calendar gets a shake-up by SEB.

"Bee Bobo remarks of Tee Spengler's classy physique. 'Aw, he buys his shoulders at Kennington's.'"

"And here is a most scornful finger at the K. A.s for distributing pins in such wholesale quantities." (Busby, Lowe and Borum got 'em—to be followed shortly by Timberlake and Ricks.)

"Say, when is Olga Wright going to step off? She's been wearing that slap-happy look long enough now."

"And have you seen Eleanor Castle's sparkler?—"

"Mary Emma Ervin manages to keep up in the clouds these days with a newly-acquired pair of wings."

FEBRUARY — boys, remembering last year, enthusiastically vote to have another Leap Week. It's coming up!

"And to Martha Lou Lattimer a veddy deddy finger for contemplating a jaunt down the bridal lane. Poor Billy Ross!"

"To the male portion of the student body a finger is pointed for letting the flying cadets out at Parks' beat their time. Maxine is just one of the co-ed recruits."

"A finger toward Doc Hamilton for stealing Nannette—but now that she's gone, congrats to 'em."

Co-eds put out a Valentine edition dedicated to Mrs. Stone—

"A finger at Davis Haughton for being so confident that he, already, is the supreme example of the 'small-town-boy-made-good.' All he's shown us so far is that he's a rather inflated example of the 'small-town-boy.'"

"Not one but 1200 ladyfingers at Jitterbug Kolb, who deserted Millsaps beauties last week to dance to M. S. C. W."

"And a big black finger at S.E.B. and the faculty for all the regulations and red tape concerning the social calendar." (Remember that?)

"Another at Jimmy Cavett for attempting a Clara Porter monopoly, thereby keeping the young lady out of respectable society."

"First honors to Big Jim's pinning of Faola."

"Ditto, Wharton and Beverley."

"Ditto, Genie and Nell."

"A most scornful appendage to Buddy Lloyd for leaving his pin on the Belhaven campus, even if she IS cute."

MARCH — Debaters busy, Singers ready to leave, little time yet for spring.

"Listen, Glee Club, we know you're good, and we're proud of you, but please remember concert music sung in the Grill is degrading—no matter how good it is. Besides, it's annoying when I'm trying to listen to 'Jumper's Jive.'"

"A finger to the debate team for running off with ALL the honors up at Union."

Comes now the Freshman Edition—

"As usual—the weekly item about Helen and Nat, but this is a very special one. Congratulations to you, Helen. (Now that that's a closed case guess we'll have to fill out the paragraph with Ess-'n'-Betty dope.)"

Remember the mumps epidemic?—

"D. T., you're fairly caught—what evidence! Catching mumps three days after your girl does—and some of you co-eds should be coming down soon too, what with Ogden, Powers, Blondie, Bob West, Graves, Daniels, etc, on the list."

"Rivaling the wild tales of the glee club trip are those of the Sig picnic Saturday night."

"A finger of scorn to Jane and Anders. Don't you know it's darker outside than in Galloway's parlor."

APRIL—spring is here at last; and in the spring—

"Dissension in the Kappa Alpha ranks. Reid Bingham is being a little fly in Ney "Budgie" Williams soup. Ain't it a shame he's not still a pledge, Ney?"

"And we hear that things really popped on Chi Omega night at the Roof. The biggest scandal occurred when Mary McRae walked in with Wilford Doss."

In honor of spring—"If the bench behind the science hall is still there when school is out, it won't be John and Shirley's fault. They haven't missed an afternoon lately, and we don't believe that comprehensives is a good excuse."

"A dingy digit to Rice Wilson and Tip Stewart for being seen on the golf course last week. Yes, they were playing golf."

MAY — still spring, still picnics, comprehensive's over; decidedly not studying weather—

"With exams rearing their ugly head over the horizon and with an epidemic of measles threatening the campus, the Finger of Scorn feels very happy. Nothing could make us happier than to see B. B. Brady have measles and fail all his exams."

"A staggering finger at Rube Wilder for increasing the membership of the K. A. Auxiliary. Wonder now how long the status quo of this group will stand."

"Fireflies, a half moon, half a fried chicken, and The Half (Dewitt James) were all present at the K. A. picneck Saturday night."

"A scornful finger at Mims Wright for not marrying Little Bit and taking her off Millsaps' hands."
